EXECUTIVE ORDER 9066, FEBRUARY 19, 1942
February 19, 2017 is the 75th Anniversary of EO 9066, which imprisoned us without charges or due process of law! My POW number – 12524 D, Poston II.

EXECUTIVE ORDER
AUTHORIZING THE SECRETARY OF WAR TO PRESCRIBE MILITARY AREAS

WHEREAS the successful prosecution of this war requires every possible protection against espionage and against sabotage to national-defense material, national-defense premises, and national-defense utilities as defined in Section 4, Act of April 30, 1918, 40 Stat. 533, as amended by the Act of November 30, 1940, 54 Stat. 1220, and the Act of August 21, 1941, 55 Stat. 655 (U. S. C., Title 50, Sec 104):

NOW, THEREFORE, by virtue of the authority vested in me as President of the United States, and Commander in Chief of the Army and Navy, I hereby Authorize and direct the Secretary of War, and the Military Commanders whom he may from time to time designate, whenever he or any designated Commander deems such action necessary or desirable, to prescribe military areas in such places and of such extent as he or the appropriate Military Commander may determine, from which any or all persons may be excluded, and with respect to which, the right of any person to enter, remain, or leave shall be subject to whatever restrictions the Secretary of War or the appropriate Military Commander may impose is his discretion. The Secretary of War is hereby authorized to provide for residents of any such area who are excluded therefrom, such transportation, food, shelter, and other accommodations as may be necessary, in the judgment of the Secretary of War or the said Military Commander, and until other arrangements are made, to accomplish the purpose of this order. The designation of military areas in any region or locality shall supersede designations of prohibited and restricted areas by the Attorney General under the Proclamation of December 7 and 8, 1942, and shall supersede the responsibility and authority of the Attorney General under the said Proclamations in respect of such prohibited and restricted areas.

I hereby further authorize and direct the Secretary of War and the said Military Commanders to take such other steps as he or the appropriate Military Commander may deem advisable to enforce compliance with the restrictions applicable to each Military area hereinabove authorized to be designated, including the use of Federal troops and other Federal Agencies, with authority to accept assistance of state and local agencies.

I hereby further authorize and direct all Executive Departments, independent establishments and other Federal Agencies, to assist the Secretary of War or the said Military Commanders in carrying out this Executive Order, including the furnishing of medical aid, hospitalization, food, clothing, transportation, use of land, shelter, and other supplies, equipment, utilities, facilities, and services.

This order shall not be construed as modifying or Limiting in any way this authority heretofore granted under Executive Order No. 8972, dated December 12, 1941, nor shall it be construed as limiting or modifying the duty and responsibility of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, with respect to the investigation of alleged acts of sabotage or the duty and responsibility of the Attorney General and the Department of Justice under the Proclamations of December 7 and 8, 1941, prescribing regulations for the conduct and control of alien enemies, except as such duty and responsibility is superseded by the designations of military area hereunder.

THE WHITE HOUSE,
February 19, 1942

(s) Franklin D. Roosevelt

[Editor’s note: Nowhere in EO 9066 would one find the words “Japanese, Japanese Americans, Italian, Italian Americans, German, and German Americans.” The closest reference is in the last sentence, “alien enemies” and not “enemy aliens.” It gave tremendous power/authority to the Secretary of War (US Army) and Military Commanders (Lt. Gen. John L. DeWitt of the Western Defense Command).

How, then, was the federal government able to put so many of us Nikkei (of Japanese ancestry) into prison for the duration of the war under Executive Order 9066?]

WHAT IS A PRESIDENTIAL EXECUTIVE ORDER?

Is it a presidential policy directive that implements or interprets a federal statute, a constitutional provision, or a treaty?

Presidents issue executive orders to help officers and agencies of the executive branch manage the operations within the federal government itself. Executive orders have the full force of law when they take authority from a legislative power which grants its power directly to the Executive by the Constitution, or are made pursuant to Acts of Congress that explicitly delegate to the President some degree of discretionary power (delegated legislation). Like both legislative statutes and regulations promulgated by government agencies, executive orders are subject to judicial review, and may be struck down if deemed by the courts to be unsupported by statute or the Constitution. Major policy initiatives require approval by the legislative branch, but executive orders have significant influence over the internal affairs of government, deciding how and to what degree legislation will be enforced, dealing with emergencies, waging wars, and in general fine-tuning policy choices in the implementation of broad statutes.

Executive orders do not require congressional approval. Thus, the president can use them to set policy while avoiding public debate and opposition. Presidents have used executive orders to direct a range of activities, including; putting Japanese and Japanese-Americans in concentration camps during World War II; enlarging national forests; prohibiting racial discrimination in housing; pardoning Vietnam War draft evaders; giving federal workers the right to bargain collectively; keeping the federal workplace drug free; and sending U.S. troops to anywhere.

In our case, was the Congressional declaration of war justification for the issuance of Executive Order 9066?

EXECUTIVE ORDER 9102 is a little known United States presidential executive order creating the War Relocation Authority (WRA), the US civilian agency responsible for the forced eviction and incarceration of Japanese and Japanese-Americans during World War II. The executive order was signed by President Franklin Roosevelt on March 18, 1942, and it officially expired on June 30, 1946. The WRA Director, Milton S. Eisenhower, youngest brother of Dwight D. Eisenhower, reported directly to the President.

PUBLIC LAW 503 (1942)

On February 19, 1942, citing the necessity for "every possible protection against espionage and against sabotage," President Franklin D. Roosevelt issued an Executive Order 9066 authorizing various military commanders to designate any area in the United States from which "any or all persons may be excluded" at their discretion.

Authorized by the 1918 War Powers Act, this order resulted from vigorous anti-Japanese sentiment by politicians, the press, fraternal organizations, labor unions, and so-called “patriotic” citizens on the West Coast.

Despite its broad wording, the order was enforced almost exclusively against persons of Japanese ancestry. The order conveyed a remarkably broad delegation of power but failed to distinguish between American citizens and aliens or even between loyal and disloyal citizens.

To provide for enforcement, the War Department drafted a bill making it a federal crime for a civilian to disobey a military relocation order.

The bill passed Congress without dissent, and Roosevelt signed it into law on March 21, 1942. These two measures deprived some 120,000 people (an entire community was relocated in ten “camps”) of their civil rights. The Supreme Court sustained the evacuation and relocation in three Japanese American cases (1943–1944)—Gordon Hirabayashi, Fred Korematsu and Minoru Yasui—despite a vigorous dissent by Justice Frank Murphy objecting to the “legalization of racism.”

Milton Eisenhower, previously an official of the Department of Agriculture, was appointed Director of the WRA. Within nine months, the WRA had opened ten facilities in seven states, and transported over 120,000 people of whom two-thirds were American citizens. Over the course of the next 19 months, Japanese and Japanese-Americans were removed from the Pacific coast and placed in concentration camps. Not so with the majority of the 158,000 Nikkei living in Hawaii. Nearly all were spared. A federal census had been taken in 1940.

A propaganda film produced by the WRA, narrated by Eisenhower, showed how “humanely” and thoughtfully the WRA treated us while administering our incarceration.

Evacuation: Public Proclamation No. 1
[Editor’s note: This research was done by the Santa Cruz Public Library staffer Internet Librarian, Rechs Ann Pedersen, to whom we are grateful.]

JAPS CALL EVACUATION "DIABOLIC"
"...obviously, the constitutional rights of those American-born Japanese have been ruthlessly trampled upon in the heart of the resentment aroused by their own [the U.S.] political and military errors. The viciousness of the American government in persecuting a helpless, strictly civilian and manifestly innocent minority will remain in history as one of the blackest crimes ever committed by the so-called great powers." [Japanese radio propaganda] (Watsonville Register-Pajaronian. March 5, 1942. p.7)

Executive Order 9066
From the start of the War, the U.S. Justice Department had established restricted areas, from which enemy aliens were excluded. (see Evacuation: Restricted Area) On February 19, 1942, President Roosevelt signed Executive Order 9066, which authorized the Secretary of War, or his designate, to define military areas. It also gave the power to exclude from a designated military area both aliens and citizens alike.

AS WE SEE IT [Editorial]
This is no time for expansive discourses on protection of civil liberties for Japanese resident of the Pacific Coast, whether they be American citizens or aliens. (Santa Cruz Sentinel-News. February 19, 1942. [M] p.1 Full-Text)

S.C. MARTIAL LAW, RICH COMMENTS [Edwin L. Rich, Santa Cruz City Mayor, 1941-1942]
"...I do think the people on the whole would feel a lot safer with all Japanese out of the community. It might be a way of bolstering morale and waking the people up to the fact the situation is serious...” (Santa Cruz Sentinel-News. February 19, 1942. [M] p.1 Full-Text)

Although an official order had not been issued yet, newspapers carried reports of evacuation and possible “protective custody.”

ALIEN CONTROL STEPS PRESSED IN CALIFORNIA
"Once a Jap, always a Jap," Rankin [Cong. Rep, D-Miss.] said. "I'm for taking every Japanese ... and putting him in a concentration camp. We take cameras, guns, and radio sets from alien Japanese."

Costello [Cong Rep., D-Calif.] remarked, "but we don't take cameras, guns and radio sets from their children who are American citizens. The only solution to the question is to remove from the area completely those persons who are likely to commit sabotage." (Santa Cruz Sentinel-News. February 19, 1942 [M] p. 1.)

February 20, 1942:

JAPANESE-AMERICAN EVACUATION PROPOSED
Further evacuation plans, United Press reported, were being discussed in joint Justice-War Department conferences ... Under consideration were plans for martial licensing of all persons in defense areas, and possible legislation for “protective custody” arrests of citizens and aliens alike. (Watsonville Register-Pajaronian. February 20, 1942. p. 1.)

February 21, 1942:

FDR AUTHORIZES WAR SECRETARY TO SET UP MILITARY AREAS TO CONTROL AXIS ALIENS
President Roosevelt, Friday, authorized the Secretary of War to take control of certain areas of the United States and to exclude from such areas any persons, citizens and aliens alike. (Watsonville Register-Pajaronian. February 21, 1942. p. 1 Full-Text)

February 23, 1942:

NISEI MAY BE FORCED TO EVACUATE
Hundreds of nisei—Japanese American citizens—in the Pajaro Valley awaited a possible evacuation order Saturday. President Roosevelt, Friday night, empowered the Army to oust both aliens and citizens from “defense zones” the Army may prescribe ... The presidential order met with approval from California leaders had demanded curbs on Japanese Americans. (Watsonville Register-Pajaronian. February 23, 1942. p. 1.)

February 28, 1942:

ARMY ALIEN ORDER AWAITED
San Francisco—Alien and American-born Japanese awaited with mounting apprehension Friday for new army regulations barring them from additional sections of California, Oregon and Washington (Watsonville Register-Pajaronian. February 28, 1942. p. 1.)

[Editor’s note: Mike Masaoka and JACL’s young leaders (many in their twenties and thirties!) protected our families. Of grave concern were the welfare of the children, young mothers, and the elderly Issei.

During this time, not one civil rights organization—not even the national ACLU—came to our defense!

The JACL, therefore, could not risk serious harm or abuse to our Japanese and Japanese American families.]
March 1, 1942:

PACIFIC COAST JAPANESE PREPARE FOR EVACUATION:

..."We are preparing our people," said the youthful official, "to move out. We want them to go without bitterness, without rancor, and with the feeling that this can be their contribution to the defense of the United States. We want to convince them that it will be patriotic to make this sacrifice, and a sacrifice it will be. We want them to go protesting but one thing--their patriotism to the flag of the United States." Mike Masaoka, national secretary and field executive of the Japanese American Citizens' League. (Santa Cruz Sentinel-News. March 1, 1942 [M] p. 1. Full-Text)

Public Proclamation No. 1

General John L. DeWitt, Western Defense Commander, was assigned to administer Executive Order 9066. By its authority, he issued a series of proclamations. Public Proclamation No. 1 was issued on March 2, 1942. It expanded the restricted area established by the U.S. the Justice Department by designating the western halves of California, Oregon, Washington and the southern part of Arizona as Military Area No. 1. Japanese-Americans as well as Japanese, German, and Italian aliens were excluded from it. Voluntary removal to the interior of the U.S. was advised.

The day after Proclamation No. 1 was issued, the Santa Cruz Sentinel-News announced possible exemptions for German and Italian aliens and the order of the evacuation.

March 3, 1942:

LOCAL ITALIANS FAVORED IN NEW ALIEN EVACUATION RULE JAPANESE HIT HARD, MUST MOVE

Santa Cruz county Tuesday was included in a coastwise strip from the Canadian to the Mexican border from which eventually all Japanese, alien and citizen, will be required to move and the same evacuation will be requested for Italian and German aliens with certain exceptions.

The exceptions for the German and Italian aliens, who will not be evacuated until after work of moving out the Japanese is completed, are:

- Those 70 years of age or over will not be required to move "except when individually suspected."
- Also exempted will be the families, including parents, wives, children, sisters and brothers of Germans and Italians in the armed forces," unless such removal is required for specific reasons. (Santa Cruz Sentinel-News, [E] March 3, 1942. p.1)
- Although persons of Japanese ancestry were to be evacuated first, all Axis aliens were preparing to leave.

March 4,1942:

2500 TO QUIT VALLEY; AMERICAN-BORN INCLUDED IN ARMY ORDER

Twenty-five hundred Japanese, both alien and American-born, German and Italians will leave the Pajaro Valley under evacuation plans announced Tuesday March 3, 1942. (Watsonville Register-Pajaronian. March 4, 1942. p. 1. Full-Text)

S.C. ALIENS AMONG FIRST EVACUATED; 60 DAYS IN WHICH ALL MUST GO

Evacuation of all Japanese, alien and citizen, and Italian and German aliens, will be conducted first in such seaport areas as Santa Cruz... (Santa Cruz Sentinel-News. March 5, 1942. [E] p. 1Full-Text)

March 5, 1942:

JAPS PLAN EVACUATION; TWO RECEPTION CENTERS SET UP

San Francisco--Three hundred leaders of the Japanese-Americans Citizens' League open a three-day session here Sunday for evacuation of their nationals to “reception centers” set up by the Western Defense Command .... The camps will (be) established to register evacuees and to determine their capabilities before moving them to permanent locations for duration of the war. (Watsonville Register-Pajaronian. March 6, 1942. p. 1. Full-Text)

Individuals were promised help, assured that they would be treated fairly, and were warned to be careful when selling their property.

WON'T PUSH JAPS AROUND

...alien control co-ordinator said today he hoped Japanese would be removed from prohibited areas on the west coast within 60 days, but that "we are not going to push them around .... We are going to give these people a fair chance to dispose of their property at fair prices ... It has come to our attention that Japanese farmers have been stampeded into selling their properties for little or nothing and it is our purpose to see that unnecessary sacrifices are not forced upon them." (Santa Cruz Sentinel-News. March 4, 1942. [E] p. 1)

March 9, 1942:

ALIENS! WARNINGS ARE GIVEN

Don't sell property at sacrifice prices, continue to work your crops until exclusion is ordered officially... (Santa Cruz Sentinel-News. March 9, 1942. [E] p. 5 Full-Text)

PROPERTY OF ALIENS TO BE SAFEGUARDED

An Alien property custodian system was established today by the U.S. Treasury to protect interests of 120,000 Japanese aliens and citizens and German and Italian aliens who will be evacuated by the army from the vital Pacific coast defense area... In the case of agricultural properties, on which crops presently might be growing...attempts would be made to arrange for leasing or selling the property or for continued attention to the growing crops with a view of preventing their loss. (Santa Cruz Sentinel-News. March 10, 1942. [E] p. 5)

On March 18th, Executive Order 9102 established the War Relocation Authority (WRA).

Milton S. Eisenhower was named the WRA's first directory, charged with the responsibility of seeing an orderly evacuation of designated persons from the restricted military areas took place. Although the order did not explicitly call for relocation camps, the newly created WRA was given wide discretion in deciding the fate of the Japanese Americans who were forced to leave their homes. On March 21, Congress backed the evacuation measures by passing Public Law 77-503. The law made anyone convicted of violating a military order subject to a civil penalty of a $5,000 fine, up to one year of imprisonment, or both. During this time, although the West Coast was declared a theater of war, martial law was never declared and habeas corpus was not suspended. The civil court system was in full operation throughout the war, and anyone charged with espionage or sabotage could have been properly tried. Yet the federal government proceeded with its plans for a mass evacuation and incarceration of American citizens and resident aliens, based solely on race, without any individual review. A government office was opened to help evacuees.
March 18, 1942: OFFICE TO HELP ALIENS TO BE SET UP HERE

Opening of a primary services center in Watsonville was announced Tuesday night by the Wartime Civil Control Administration. The center will help handle the property, personal effects and personal problems of Japanese and Americans who will be evacuated ... offices will be opened [also] in Santa Cruz and Monterey. (Watsonville Register-Pajaronian, March 18, 1942. p.1.)

March 19, 1942: "WE'RE HERE TO SEE ALIENS GET FAIR DEAL", SAYS FANE [Supervisor of the program in the Watsonville office]

...the new program, directed by the Farm Security under orders from the Western Defense Command and Fourth Amy, intended to supervise fair disposition of land being evacuated by Japanese and to aid qualified farmers in taking over the land and obtaining operating credit...He cautioned "as long as they know they have to go, the sooner they take action the better the deal that can be made for them. No one

[Editor's note: Those of us living in Santa Cruz County were forcibly removed on April 27, 1942 by Exclusion Order 16. We reported to the Veterans' Memorial Building on East Third Street (now East Beach Street). After registration, we were transported to a temporary detention facility--the “Salinas Assembly Center.” This facility held over 3,600 Nikkei from Santa Cruz County, Monterey County, San Benito County and southern Santa Clara County. It closed on the 4th of July 1942. The incarcerated were then sent to Poston, AZ.]

POWER OF WORDS HANDBOOK, A Guide to Language about Japanese Americans in World War II.

The National JACL published this handbook which explains the correct terminology, and not the euphemism that the US Government wanted all to use regarding our wartime experience.

The US Government produced a propaganda film, narrated by Milton Eisenhower, on how “humanly” we were being treated in our isolated “camps.” Have you seen it? All euphemism.

Fumiko Hayashida (31), with 10 month-old daughter, Natalie, of Bainbridge Island, Washington, March 1942. Mrs. Hayashida passed away at the age of 103.

When writing or speaking about our wartime experience, please consider the correct usage of terms:

Do not use (Euphemism) Instead, DO USE

“Relocation center” American concentration camp, incarceration camp; inmates held are “incarcerees” and not internees.

“Internment center/camp”

“Evacuation” forced removal, eviction

“Relocation”

Civilian Exclusion Orders detention orders

“any and all persons” primarily persons of Japanese ancestry

“Non-aliens” US citizens, term used in the “Exclusion Orders”

“may be excluded” eviction from one’s home

“Assembly Center” temporary detention facility

“native American aliens” renuncients, citizens who, under pressure, renounced their US citizenships

HISTORICALLY, WHAT HAPPENED TO EO 9066 AND BEYOND?

In 1976, President Gerald Ford signed a proclamation entitled, “An American Promise,” rescinding Executive Order 9066.

In 1979, President Jimmy Carter signed a bill, at the suggestion of Senator Daniel K. Inouye, to create the Commission on Wartime Relocation and Internment of Civilians (CWRIC).

In 1981, CWRIC holds hearings in nine major cities across the nation recording testimonies from over 750 witnesses.

In 1983, Fred Korematsu, Minoru Yasui, and Gordon Hirabayashi individually file writ of error coram nobis to reopen their federal cases of WW II.

On October 4th, the federal court in San Francisco vacates Fred Korematsu’s original conviction. Korematsu’s legal team was spearheaded by Dale Minami and his team of brilliant and dedicated lawyers.

The National JACL establishes its Legislative Education Committee, a lobbying organization led by Grant Ujifusa and Grayce Uyehara, to obtain redress (apology) and reparations.
In 1831, \textit{Worcester v. Georgia} (Chief Justice) made his decision. Now, let him enforce it.” He directed the expulsion of the Cherokee nation. Thousands of US Army soldiers were used to “round them up”, not unlike what happened to us in 1942.

Their forced removal and route is called “The Trail of Tears.” Of the 14,000 who were removed, more than a quarter (4,000--many were children, women and the elderly) died on the journey to “Indian Territory (Forever)” in present-day Oklahoma.

“Forever” ended in March of 1889. Only the Poston and Gila River camps in Arizona were located on Indian reservations, and the native Americans did not want us! They didn’t want us to suffer as they had.

Will today’s chief executive enforce the laws of the land?

\textbf{DAY OF REMEMBRANCE EDUCATION FUND}

Starting in February--the 75th Anniversary of Executive Order 9066--we ask our members and friends to help us carry on our mission.

Our main objective involves the teaching of tolerance, compassion, appreciation, and understanding of our nation’s diversity and against the discrimination, hatred, and racism that led to our unjust wartime incarceration. Unfortunately, these hatreds continue to prevail prominently in this country.

We have incorporated a speaking/teaching program, utilizing the publications of the JACL’s National Education Committee. We are grateful to every invitation from teachers and community organizations to speak about our wartime experience.

We also maintain a hall—the Tokushige Kizuka JACL Hall—for the use by our Senior Center on Thursdays, Watsonville Bonsai Club, Watsonville Taiko and the Kokoro no Gakko staff. A hall requires payment of property taxes, insurances, alarm system, lighting inside and out, floor and ground maintenance, insect inspection, roofing, painting, sound system, heating, restroom facilities, trash collection, and much more.

Additionally, we award local and national scholarships as well as provide information about leadership and exchange programs for our young scholars.

President Andrew Jackson, an old Indian fighter and as the chief executive, refused to uphold the ruling. “\textbf{John Marshall} (Chief Justice) made his decision. Now, let him enforce it.” He directed the expulsion of the Cherokee nation. Thousands of US Army soldiers were used to “round them up”, not unlike what happened to us in 1942.

The new immigrants from western Europe had only a few weeks to wait before the tribe was decimated, and the land was for the taking.

A most tragic case involved the Cherokee Nation and their forced removal--

\begin{itemize}
  \item Cherokee Nation v. State of Georgia, 30 U.S. 1(1831)
  \item Worcester v. Georgia, 31 U.S. 515 (1832).
\end{itemize}

In short, the Court ruled that the Cherokee nation was sovereign, and Georgia had no rights to enforce state laws in its territory. It also made the Indian Removal Act invalid, illegal, unconstitutional and against treaties previously made by the United States.

\textbf{THE NIKKEI NATION IS NOT THE FIRST!}

We are not the first to be forcibly removed, evicted, excluded, detained, and incarcerated in this country, but, hopefully, we will be the last—with reference to Muslim Americans and others.

Who, then, was the first?

The native inhabitants of this land were removed by various ways.

“Undocumented” European immigrants showed the natives the “deeds” to the land, given to them by the king or some other “authority.”.

“Get off my land!” they told the natives. “I have the deed to this property.”

The natives asked, “What’s a deed? No one owns the land. The land belongs to all to use.”

The natives had no concept of private ownership of land.

The natives were subjected to genocide, mass murder. Wool blankets—lighter and warm—were traded or given to the natives. The blankets were infected with small pox or measles. The new immigrants from western Europe had only a few weeks to wait before the tribe was decimated, and the land was for the taking.

A most tragic case involved the Cherokee Nation and their forced removal--

PULLING THE WEEDS AROUND THE HALL ...

The weeds love the rain and grow so quickly and so tall. It’s no fun pulling weeds from around the JACL Kizuka Hall. But, somebody has to do it.

Board members Jeanette Otsuji Hager (above), Victor Kimura, and Mas spent several hours clearing the sidewalk, driveway, parking lot, and area of the weeds. Victor also replaced the worn-out flood lights in front of the hall.

In preparation of the installation luncheon (Jan. 29), board members Gary Mine and Cindy Hirokawa Mine had our hall floor professionally waxed and spruced up our women’s restroom.

Watsonville Taiko weekly cleans the hall floors and restrooms. We also appreciate the tobans of the Senior Center for keeping our kitchen tidy.

Thank you, Jeanette, Victor, Cindy, Gary, Mas, Watsonville Taiko, and Senior Center tobans.
We are grateful to those who make the hall a facility that all can enjoy in relative comfort and safety.

OUR MISSION, .. TEACHING OF OUR HISTORY

Kaci Gu (a sophomore) and Nancy Yu (a junior) of Robert Louis Stevenson High School, Pebble Beach, CA, interviewed Mas and Marcia Hashimoto. They are students from mainland China and are fluent in Mandarin, English and Japanese!

Both students are researching our wartime incarceration and writing a paper titled, “Taking A Stand.” They were well-read, which made the interview free flowing and exciting. They were impressed with Jeanne Wakatsuki Houston and James D. Houston’s Farewell to Manzanar and enjoyed the drawings of Jack Matsuoka—Poston II Block 211.

A Photographer Works to Honor Another

Tom Graves, photojournalist, is Historian of the Bay Area chapter of the USMC Combat Correspondents Association, a group of active duty and retired Marine photographers, writers and cameramen. “I am the only civilian in the chapter. For some reason, they let me in,” Tom said.

He interviewed a number of the Combat Correspondents before he began interviewing Nisei veterans for his book, Twice Heroes: America’s Nisei Veterans of WWll and Korea. He is a great admirer of all those who served and sacrificed while in the US military.

A Watsonville-Santa Cruz JACLe r and a member of the Friends and Family of Nisei Veterans, Tom Graves, is leading an effort to honor another photographer, one who took the most famous picture of all time.

The late Joe Rosenthal, a longtime San Francisco newspaper photographer, took Raising the Flag on Iwo Jima, the iconic photo atop Mt. Suribachi, which became the most famous photo of WW II. Graves wants the US Navy to honor Rosenthal with his name on a Navy warship.

“This is the group that first got me interested in the experiences of our veterans. If I had not met them, my work would have gone in a very different direction. When I joined, most of the members were WWII veterans; now most are from the Vietnam-era. But we still have two Iwo Jima veterans as members. Both were wounded in the battle and one is our chapter president.

“Everyone knows the photo, but how many people know the photographer’s name, or that he was a San Franciscan? I want to change that before his name is completely lost to history,” Tom said. “Joe’s name on a Navy ship will keep him front-and-center in our minds, and provide a teaching opportunity for young people to learn about him and the significance of World War II.”

Rosenthal was working for the Associated Press and requested assignment to the Pacific War, where “the action” was. The 33-year-old landed with the Marines on Iwo Jima, February 19, 1945, in what American planners said would be a five-day battle. Instead, the battle lasted five weeks, and would prove the costliest in US Marine Corps history, with 6,800 dead among more than 26,000 total casualties. In the first days of fighting, a Marine was killed or wounded every 30 seconds.

In the first battle on Japanese soil, the defenders knew the island would fall, but were under orders not to die until each had killed 10 Americans—and they fought that way. Of the 21,000 Japanese soldiers on Iwo Jima, only a few hundred surrendered and survived the battle.

The flag raising, and Rosenthal’s photo, occurred on the fifth day of battle. The Suribachi volcano is the highest point on the island, and commanded a view of the beaches and the American ships and landing force. Artillery spotters on the mountain called in deadly fire on the invading forces.

By February 24, patrols from the 5th Marine Division scaled Suribachi and engaged the Japanese soldiers fighting from caves and prepared defensive positions. The Marines raised a small American flag at the summit. As they descended, they passed a patrol carrying a second, larger flag that was soon to be raised. This was the flag Joe Rosenthal photographed. Along with Bill Genaust, a Marine Corps motion picture cameraman, Rosenthal had not a
Each February, American and Japanese veterans of the battle meet on Iwo Jima for a “Reunion of Honor.” The former enemies each have their own memorial services, then meet together in friendship for a single service. This year Tom will join them.

“This is a once in a lifetime experience for me, to visit Iwo Jima and meet men who fought there over 70 years ago. Only a few Iwo Jima survivors remain, and fewer still can make the long trip. You fly in and out the same day because there is no place to stay on the island. It is hallowed ground.”

Everyone can sign the petition to honor Joe Rosenthal online at www.USSJoe.org.

I have a dream …

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. January 15, 1929—April 4, 1968

_We may have all come on different ships, but we’re in the same boat now._

_Be true to what you say on paper (the Constitution)._
_Injustice anywhere is a threat to justice everywhere._
_The time is always right to do what is right._
_I look to a day when people will not be judged by the color of their skin, but by the content of their character._
_In the End, we will remember not the words of our enemies, but the silence of our friends._
_Love is the only force capable of transforming an enemy into a friend._
Martin Luther King and Me ... a Chinese-American Point of View  by George Ow, Jr.

I graduated from Monterey High School in 1960. It was a good time for my family and other Chinese-Americans in California. We had a family grocery store in New Monterey where all seven of us kids would work, and my mother and father did well enough to keep us well fed, clothed and housed.

We could even go to college by living at home and working at our store the first two years while we went to Monterey Peninsula College. The old anti-Chinese discrimination laws had been eliminated, and my Chinese-born dad was now able to become a U.S. citizen and own land. There was no doubt in my mind that we lived in the greatest country in the world, and we were very lucky to live here because relatives in China were starving to death under a harsh and incompetent Communist government.

While things were much better for me than for my father’s generation, the playing field was not yet level. If you were not white and male, most high-paying and even mid-level jobs were not open to you. I remember being a kid in Santa Cruz’s Chinatown, along the San Lorenzo River. Black men and Chinese men (my relatives) were there. I knew as a five-year-old that they wanted to work but couldn’t get jobs, not because they couldn’t do the jobs, but because of their race and skin color.

You could be the smartest, hardest-working, most qualified applicant, but you weren’t going to get a chance at the job. That’s just the way it was, and the law was with those who chose to discriminate on the basis of race, gender and religion. My family would always operate our own businesses as a defense and survival mechanism.

In terms of housing and buying property, it was still then perfectly legal and socially correct to write into deeds covenants restricting ownership that barred people who were black, Asian, Mexican or Jewish from most neighborhoods. You could have the money, but you weren’t allowed in—except as a servant. In terms of travel, especially if you were black, you would routinely be told you weren’t welcome in a restaurant, motel or barbershop. If you lived in the South, you took your life in your hands if you tried to change the status quo by trying to vote, or to integrate schools, lunch counters, water fountains, train and bus waiting rooms.

But times were changing. Against great odds, against social norms, against the law and police power—the battle against the status quo of discrimination and unequal treatment was being waged. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., came to Monterey Peninsula College in 1962. I was 19 and sat in the front row of a packed gymnasium and felt the excitement of the change coming. He touched me with his hand, his logic, his words. You felt it was really going to happen.

I never felt that my situation was ever close to the discrimination and lack of opportunity faced by blacks in America. But because of the civil rights movements led by King and fought by courageous people of all colors, I was going to be handed my civil rights like a gift. I was going to be able to move from second-class citizenship to first-class citizenship if I worked hard enough and smart enough.

I know that I live the wonderful life that I do because of civil rights warriors who fought for me. I know that my children and their children can aim their sights even higher, and maybe even take their civil rights for granted, because of things that happened not that many years ago. But I cannot take these rights for granted. It just wasn’t that long ago when the restrictive covenant on the house I live in was enforceable, when I couldn’t marry my wife (because of anti-miscegenation laws), when I couldn’t dream of doing what I routinely do now.

I remember seeing the shocking pictures of Emmett Till’s brutal murder in Life Magazine. I remember the years and years of agony and violence as schools began integrating in the South. I remember the Birmingham church bombing that killed the four young girls. I remember when dignified Rosa Parks said, ‘No more.’ I remember the violent deaths of Violet Liuzzo, James Chaney, Andrew Goodman and Michael Schwerner, Medgar Evers and Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. They seem like yesterday to me.

I want to thank these people and those who risked their lives by going to the South in the ’60s, and I know some of you are here in the Monterey Bay Area. You did a great thing for me, my family and the country. You challenged a system set in place for hundreds of years, backed by law, police power and terror. The dangers you faced, the beatings you took, and the deaths of your friends, changed history. I thank you with every spark of consciousness and with every fiber of my being. I have and will always remember your bravery and selflessness.
Many aspiring people, including many people with brown and black skin, are working hard to acquire education, housing and jobs. We have the opportunity to carry on the work of Dr. King and the Civil Rights Movement right here in the Monterey Bay Region, where he graced us with his presence—and his vision—now nearly a half-century ago.

[Editor's note: George Ow Jr. is a businessman, publisher, philanthropist and surfer living in Santa Cruz. He has been a most supportive member of our Watsonville-Santa Cruz JACL.]

If you or dear family members—grandparents, perhaps—were unjustly incarcerated during WW II, you must actively help fight the racism, legal and human injustices they encountered and which continues to exist in this country to this day.

DAVID HIROMI TARUMOTO

David Hiromi Tarumoto (1941-2017) was born and raised during the tumultuous time of World War II, and his family spent those years torn from their homes to be in an incarceration camp.

Upon release, the family came home to nothing. Planting a new foundation for their family in Los Angeles, David’s father became a gardener and his mother a seamstress. They worked hard for a better life.

At the mere age of 16, David commenced his Engineering studies at Stanford University. After graduating, he went on to Harvard Business School.

He then spent time as a business consultant, and, as a logistical consultant for the US Government, he traveled the world.

Eventually, he landed in Michigan, studying Sociology. There he opened a Marimekko retail store.

He met the love of his life, Rebecca Mitchell. David and Rebecca married in Ekoji Temple in Fairfax, VA and evidently became one of the first interracial marriages in the state of Virginia.

They shared a beautiful life in California and adopted two children from Japan—Victoria, then ten years later, Antonio.

David and Rebecca (1945-2007) enjoyed their remaining time in Carmel-by-the-Sea, CA living their lives to the fullest.

A memorial service was held on Jan. 15th at the beautiful Hakone Gardens in Saratoga.

WOMEN’S MARCH FOR EQUALITY

W-SC JACL chapter members participated in the “Hands Around the Plaza” rally at Watsonville City Plaza, organized by City of Watsonville, PV Climate Action, Salud Para La Gente, and the Monterey Bay Central Labor Council on Thursday, January 19th from 5 pm to 7 pm.

Hundreds of community members joined hands in support of equal rights for women, LGBTQ, Pajaro Valley Climate Action and immigrants, especially the generation of “Dreamers.” Among the speakers was WPD Chief David Honda who reassured the community that Watsonville’s Police Department will not seek out immigrants for deportation but will continue to help those immigrants and the entire community who are in need of assistance.

Along with millions nationally and internationally, we marched in unity on Saturday, January 21st on the “Women’s March For Equality” at the Watsonville City’s Plaza and in Santa Cruz with the LGBTQ community and others.

To be a part of this peaceful equal rights march was historically important and emotionally riveting and solidified the need to continue to be one powerful voice for human and civil rights and social justice.
The W-SC JACL works to support causes of injustices, racial discrimination, women’s and LGBTQ rights.

We are grateful to Katherine C. Tobin, a W-SC JACLer of Alexandria, VA, for expressing our support in the Washington, DC Women’s March on Saturday, January 21st, 2017. She is a most active supporter of our mission.

She is holding the colorful RAINBOW flag of the LGBT. Katherine is married to the Hon. Evan J. Wallach of the United States Court of Appeals for the Federal District in Washington, DC, a member of the Washington DC JACL chapter.

WESTIVEW CHIMES by Leslie Nagata-Garcia

The grass is not greener on the other side of the fence, the grass is greener where you water it!!

Valentine’s Day is coming up, a chance to appreciate all those you love in your life. Take time to let all you love, not just your spouse or partner, that you love them...and DO something to love them. For love is a verb, not an emotion.

This Valentine’s Day let us not just think about roses and chocolate or a new tie, but about the true meaning of love. As our holy Scriptures tells us in the modern translation by Eugene Peterson:

Love never gives up.
Love cares more for others than for self.
Love doesn’t want what it doesn’t have.
Love doesn’t strut,
Doesn’t have a swelled head,
Doesn’t force itself on others,
Isn’t always "me first,"

Doesn’t fly off the handle,
Doesn’t keep score of the sins of others,

Doesn’t revel when others grovel,

Takes pleasure in the flowering of truth,

Puts up with anything,

Trusts God always,
Always looks for the best,
Never looks back,
But keeps going to the end.

8-10 Love never dies.
1 Corinthians 13:4-8 (From The Message)

Let’s also give thanks to our First Love, God, who in Christ poured out his love for us to enable us to be his children! Take time to water the grass this Valentine’s Day 😊

I am grateful for our church family!
Much LOVE to you and Christ’s peace to you,
Pastor Dan

“BACHAN” RANCH, WATSONVILLE….

Nikkei friends, visiting from the Central Valley, were excited to see this sign, Bachan Ranch, on Riverside Drive. Ba-chan, in Japanese, means “grandmother.”

Alas, the ranch belongs to a well-known and respected Croatian family—the Bachans. I haven’t been able to find the meaning of Bachan in Croatian. Someone, please help.

Onward! Mas Hashimoto, Editor
GUARDING AGAINST UNJUST INCARCERATION BY US GOVERNMENT

We of Japanese ancestry in this country, via the infamous Executive Order 9066, were, in 1942, imprisoned without charges, attorney, trial, or due process of law by those who swore, with their oath of office, to uphold the Constitution of the United States! They failed in their constitutional duties! They gave in to racism, hatred, and unfounded fear that was promoted by the press media and others.

Now, one would think, after all these years, that America has learned the lesson of our unjust wartime incarceration, but it has not! The present administration has promised registration of those of the Muslim faith. What happened to us must never happen again to anyone or any group in this country.

The JACL is the modern guardian of the Bill of Rights! And, we gladly accept this responsibility.

As JACLers, it is our duty to fight for and protect the civil and human rights of every American and legal resident. You can help. How? By continuing your membership in our Watsonville-Santa Cruz JACL chapter and by taking an active role in our mission.

Manzanar guard tower; Delphine Hirasuna’s “The Art of Gaman” book; our reception coming home.

Our Watsonville-Santa Cruz JACL is truly grateful to its members and friends who have donated to this year’s 2017 Day of Remembrance Education Fund (DOREF). Thank you. To those who haven’t, please help with what you can. Each donation helps to preserve our Nikkei history and legacy.

This DOREF also maintains a safe hall/dojo for our Senior citizens and cultural groups; honors our youths with scholarships; and supports this monthly newsletter.
