Welcome back, Carol and Paul Kaneko, from your vacation in Hawaii! We missed you very much and are so happy to see you back at the W-SC JACL’s Senior Center! (A big “Thank you!” to all the folks who lent a helping hand while the Kaneko’s were away.)

SENIOR CENTER AUGUST 2017 NEWS

by Carol Kaneko and Jean Yamashita

[Editor’s note: My sincere apologies to all the W-SC JACL Senior Center members for having omitted the above photo and following article from last month’s (Sept.) newsletter.]

Twenty-nine Seniors and guests eagerly anticipated a fortuitous afternoon at Table Mountain Casino on Monday, July 24th.

After escaping the sweltering Friant heat, folks savored the coolness inside the casino. Then, they began traipsing around seeking their lucky slot machine or maneuvering to a lucky spot at a blackjack table. But alas, there were no “BIG” winners on this trip, but hopefully an entertaining afternoon was had by all nevertheless. The bus ride to and from Table Mountain was very comfortable, and guests enjoyed viewing a “Misora Hibari” biographical movie on the way home. It was also quite a delectable journey as we savored the generous treats donated by: Isamu and Kiiko Akiyama, Jean Akiyama, Yaeko Cross, Teruko Hirahara, Rubie Kawamoto, Cindy Mine, Hideko Nagamine, Eiko Nishihara, Yoshiko Nishihara, Toshi Yamashita, and Jean Yamashita. Thank you for all the delicious goody donations.

With the upcoming WBT Rummage Sale as an incentive, five energetic volunteers attacked the overflowing back storage room at the Senior Center on July 27, and cleaned it out with enthusiasm and gusto. A truckload of items was donated to the rummage sale, and the trash bin was soon filled with unsalvageables. Many thanks to the hardworking crew who made the task lively and fun.

Eileen Byers, Marcia Hashimoto, June Honda, Pat Marr, and Jean Yamashita. Thanks also to our patient supervisors Sunao Honda and Iwao Yamashita.

On August 4 & 5, several of the Seniors lent a helping hand sortting and organizing at the Watsonville Buddhist Temple’s Rummage Sale – much appreciated! Hopefully, some hidden treasures were also found.

How were Mrs. Potts and Chip going to come-to-life on stage? Would the Beast be truly terrifying, and how would he be transformed into the handsome prince? These questions were answered as 24 Seniors and guests were swept away into the magical production of “Beauty and the Beast” performed by Cabrillo Stage on August 12th.

It was a very entertaining show which included the same Disney tunes and a few newly created songs sung by a cast of excellent performers. Pictured: Mitsuyo Tao, Hideko Nagamine, Toshi Yamashita, and Iwao Yamashita at Cabrillo Stage.

After the show, several Seniors and guests also enjoyed dinner on the patio at Severino’s.

It was a fun outing that hopefully we can do again next year!
At Severino’s: Susan AmRhein, Helen Nakano, Jean Akiyama, Nancy Kuratomi, Toshi Yamashita, Hideko Nagamine, Carol Kaneko, Paul Kaneko, and Tom AmRhein.

SENIOR CENTER SEPTEMBER NEWS by Carol Kaneko and Jean Yamashita

“I’m melting …” wailed many folks all around the SF Bay area due to the record breaking sweltering heat over the Labor Day weekend. What better way to beat the heat than ice skating?

Fifteen fortunate Seniors enjoyed a cool event at the SAP Center in San Jose on September 3rd: Kristi Yamaguchi’s Golden Moments ice skating extravaganza.

Mitsuyo Tao and Hide Nagamine at Golden Moments skating show.

It was a very entertaining production that featured figure skating stars such as Karen Chen, Mirai Nagasu, and Yuka Sato (to name a few) and was hosted by Brian Boitano and Kristi Yamaguchi. Kristi also performed a charming number with her 11-year-old daughter Emma which was a show highlight. It’s hard to believe that it’s been 25 years since Kristi Yamaguchi won her 1992 Olympic Gold Medal, and she still looks and skates as beautifully as ever. Proceeds for the event supported the Always Dream Foundation’s early childhood literacy program, Always Reading. After the wonderful show, the starving crew had dinner at Azuma II. Takeshi and Aya Kaneko, Tadashi Kaneko, and Yutaka Izutsu were able to join us at the restaurant which was very nice. Many thanks to Takeshi Kaneko for his help divvying up the bill and to the kind volunteer drivers, Marcia/Mas Hashimoto, Paul/Carol Kaneko, Jean/Iwao Yamashita!

We neglected to thank our August toban ladies last month: Thanks to Gail Wurtenberg, Toshi Yamashita, Sharon Bobo, and all the other helpers that always lend a hand. For September toban, we thank June Honda, Terry Hirahara, and Eileen Byers. Paul Kaneko and Sunao Honda were in charge of opening up these past two months. Thanks to all our members who are always available to help.

On August 31st, Eileen Byers and June Honda treated everyone to delicious cupcakes in honor of their August birthdays. Thank you, Eileen and June!

The Seniors have a couple of fun upcoming one-day bus trips planned. Please come and join us! Table Mountain Casino trip on Wednesday, September 27th. The cost is $30 for Senior members; $40 for non-members. Please sign up with Jean Yamashita or Rubie Kawamoto.

Our annual San Francisco Japantown and Marukai/Cupertino Shopping trip on Tuesday, December 5th. The cost is $30 for Senior members; $40 for non-members. Please sign up with Jean Yamashita.

CVS Pharmacy provided a flu shot clinic for our seniors on September 14. CVS pharmacist Dru administered flu shots to sixteen seniors. Thank you to CVS Pharmacy for providing this service to us.

The 2017 Santa Cruz Follies “Best of Broadway-Then and Now” production was enjoyed by Toshi Yamashita, Jean Akiyama, Sumi Yamada, Kitty Mizuno, Paul and Carol Kaneko. They enjoyed a potluck lunch in the patio area of City Hall before the show, and met at Mayflower Chinese Restaurant in Capitola after the show for a delicious dinner. It was a small group, but we had a wonderful day together! Join us next year when we do this again.
We learned that Yoshiko Nishihara had surgery, and a get-well card was signed by all to wish her a speedy recovery. Paul announced the sad news that Kiyo Arao had passed away. We miss her at the Senior Center and send our condolences to her family.

Jean Yamashita announced that the Watsonville Buddhist Temple’s 110th Anniversary will be Sat., Nov. 4th from 10 am to 2 pm. There will be a luncheon ($15), program, and service. RSVP for the luncheon by October 7th.

The September birthday party was held on September 21 with honorees: Susan AmRhein, Akira Nagamine 92, Pat Marr, and Mitsuyo Tao. Absent were: Donna Fujita, Fred Oda 94, Jane Sugidono, Jackie Yamashita, and Frances Schwamm. Susan treated everyone to ice cream and chocolate chip chocolate zucchini cake in honor of her birthday. The beautiful flower arrangements were from Hisako Kodama, Jean Akiyama, and Nancy Kuratomi.

Willie Yahiro will be at the Senior Center in October to provide information about Medicare Part D. He will give a 5-minute presentation. No sales pitch, just information.

This month we welcomed back June Honda and Jane Sugidono, and it was very nice to see Akira Nagamine back to celebrate his 92nd birthday. Guests this month were Connie Dimas and Patty Vasquez.

Monetary donations for the month of September gratefully received from: Bette Garcia, Toshi Yamashita, Sumi Yamada, and Jean Akiyama in appreciation for Mas/Marcia Hashimoto driving to San Jose; Fred Oda, Jackie Yamashita, Mitsuyo Tao, Akira Nagamine, Susan AmRhein, Jo Ann Vear, and Miye Yamashita. DREAMERS ARE SUPPORTED AT UCSC
To: UC Santa Cruz community
From: Chancellor George Blumenthal and Campus Provost and Executive Vice Chancellor Marlene Tromp

Together, we are deeply saddened with and strongly disagree with the decision by President Trump today (Sept 5) to effectively end the DACA program. This compassionless action imperils the futures of hundreds of thousands of Dreamers across our nation, including hundreds here on our campus who are pursuing the dream of a college education without fear of deportation.

We want undocumented students at UC Santa Cruz to know this: You do not stand alone. We are proud of your efforts and recognize your contributions to campus and to society. You are what makes America great, and we will do all in our power to help you.

The Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals program has been a just and humane way for an estimated 800,000 undocumented immigrants to work or to better themselves through higher education—and to do so in the only country most of them have ever known. To end the program is an affront to our nation’s values. It also runs contrary to UC’s commitment to educational access and opportunity to all. These DACA students are, for all intents and purposes, Americans.

At UC Santa Cruz, we offer strong support for undocumented students. In the coming months, we will look for more opportunities to strengthen these services in hopes of creating bright futures for all of our undocumented students and alumni.

We applaud the firm stance taken by UC President Janet Napolitano against the White House action, and stand with her in the belief that students should be admitted to UC based on their achievements and without regard to their immigration status.

Our elected leaders must now rise to this challenge and find a bipartisan legislative solution that will remove Dreamers from this needless turmoil.

Contact Chancellor George Blumenthal at chancellor@ucsc.edu. Campus Provost and Executive Vice Chancellor Marlene Tromp can be reached at cpevc@ucsc.edu.

Families File Brief in Supreme Court in Opposition to Travel Ban
SEATTLE (Sept. 18, 2017) – The children of Gordon Hirabayashi, Minoru Yasui, and Fred Korematsu filed an amicus brief (a friend of the court brief) in the U.S. Supreme Court opposing Executive Order 13780, the Trump administration’s travel ban on nationals from six Muslim-majority nations.

The amicus brief points to the unjust incarceration of Japanese Americans during WWII as an urgent warning against presidential powers run amok.
[Editor’s note: We are pleased to report the Southern Poverty Law Center, other civil right advocates, including the National JACL, and clergy members have also filed their own amicus briefs to the US Supreme Court.

The Supreme Court convictions in 1943 and 1944 of Hirabayashi, Yasui, and Korematsu were based on falsified, altered and suppressed evidence. Forty years later, their convictions were vacated.]

“Rather than repeat the injustices of the past,” states the brief, the Court “should heed the lessons of Korematsu, Hirabayashi, and Yasui: Blind deference to the Executive Branch … is incompatible with the protection of fundamental freedoms.”

The brief was filed on behalf of Jay Hirabayashi, Holly Yasui, and Karen Korematsu by the Fred. T. Korematsu Center for Law and Equality at Seattle University School of Law in partnership with the legal teams that gained exoneration of the three men in historic coram nobis petitions in the 1980s. Attorneys from Akin Gump Strauss Hauer & Feld LLP provided pro bono counsel.

In defending the travel ban, the government asserts that “federal courts may not second-guess the political branches’ decisions.” Invoking national security, the government seeks near complete deference to the President’s decision to deny visas and suspend the entry of refugees from six Muslim-majority nations.

Today, the children of these iconic Supreme Court litigants remind the Supreme Court that during World War II, its near complete deference to the executive branch and corresponding failure to scrutinize another Executive Order—Presidential Executive Order 9066—resulted in upholding the constitutionality of 120,000 Americans being forcibly incarcerated because of their racial ancestry, a decision now universally condemned as a civil liberties disaster.

By choosing not to question the executive branch, the Court essentially “rubber-stamped” the government’s bald assertion that the mass-round up was reasonable and necessary, and in doing so, abdicated its critical role in safeguarding fundamental freedoms.

In contrast, both the 9th Circuit and 4th Circuit Courts of Appeals this year ruled that it is the duty of the judiciary to hold the President accountable to the requirements of the law and the Constitution—and that unfounded claims about threats to national security cannot justify the wholesale infringement of civil liberties.

Moreover, the Hirabayashi, Yasui and Korematsu brief argues that the government’s present position that the courts should give the executive branch extreme deference is not rooted in sound constitutional tradition, but relies on previous court decisions based on racism and xenophobia.

It bears remembering that three Justices wrote scathing dissents in Korematsu v. United States, questioning the government’s claims that the mass deprivation of civil liberties was justified by military necessity, including Justice Robert H. Jackson who referred to the majority’s decision as “a loaded weapon ready for the hand of any authority who could put forth a plausible claim of an urgent need.”

Justice Jackson meant that with little more than an assertion by the government that national security demands it, an entire group could be denied their fundamental freedoms.

If the Supreme Court accepts the government’s view that the courts should abdicate their constitutional role of ensuring that the President’s actions adhere to the Constitution and the law, the Court risks repeating the injustices stemming from Hirabayashi, Yasui, and Korematsu.

Without any meaningful review by the courts of government actions, it invites overreach and the potential for abuse. In this regard, the children of Hirabayashi, Yasui and Korematsu point to the misconduct that occurred in their fathers’ challenges.

Four decades after the Supreme Court ruled against these litigants, their cases were successfully reopened on the grounds that the government deceived the Court by withholding evidence that would have exonerated not only the three men, but all the Americans who were imprisoned behind barbed wire.

The evidence included intelligence reports from the Navy, FBI, and the FCC, which categorically denied that Japanese Americans had committed any wrong or posed any threat. Other Justice Department memoranda characterized the Army’s claims that Japanese Americans were spying as “intentional falsehoods.” These official reports were never presented to the Court, having been intentionally suppressed and, in one case, destroyed by burning it.

If the Court abdicates its constitutional role of asking probing questions to determine whether there is a reasonable factual basis for the Executive Order, the executive branch could use this strategy again to achieve an equally unjust outcome.

Today, President Trump argues in court and in the news media that his Executive Order is not reviewable by any court. The Trump Administration is asking the judiciary to make the same mistake it made in the 1940s, and the Appeals Courts have wisely declined.

OUR KAWAKAMI SISTER CITY PROGRAM

by Robb Mayeda, Chair

On Tuesday, September 5, fifteen visitors arrived in Watsonville from Kawakami-mura by way of Los Angeles. Mayor Rios and Councilman Hernandez greeted the group in the City Hall’s Community Room. Brad Blachly and Emily Olaguez of the Watsonville Parks and Rec Department setup the tables, chairs and AV equipment. (Emily was a Kawakami sister city exchange student in 2009!)

After touring the fire and the police departments, the group received a tour of the main library conducted in Japanese by Karen Sepulveda.

During this time Phyllis Nagamine, Patty Akiyama, Teresa Martinez, and Dorothy Mayeda decorated the community room. Former exchange students, now in high school, assisted throughout the event. Nearly 100 people attended the welcome reception and dinner. The menu consisted of traditional American turkey dinner, provided by the Turkey Boat Restaurant in Pajaro. Dorothy Mayeda cooked a turkey for display, and I carved and served it to our Kawakami visitors. Guests included the entire Watsonville City Council and the area’s County Supervisor, Greg Caput.

Eakiyoshi Hanamura, Kawakami city official, presented Mayor Oscar Rios with a new banner. Entertainment was provided by Robert Gomez who explained the translation of “Wa-to-son-bi-ru” Watsonville.

Wa, Peace’ To, Forever; Son, Respect; Bi, Beauty’ Ru, Flow. Watsonville means “peace, forever, respect, beauty, and flow.” Photos by Rebecca Garcia.

The Kawakami students particularly enjoyed driving a tractor assisted by John Kegebein, CEO of the Ag History project at the Santa Cruz County fairgrounds. Although many of the Kawakami students come from farming families, the children are not allowed to drive the tractors.

The chaperones were treated to a dinner at Jalisco’s Mexican Restaurant, an ag tour of local fields including the Akiyama Hop Farm, and the Elkhorn Brewery.

The chaperones—Eakiyoshi Hanamura, teacher Emasuo Tomono and tour escort Junko Asano—really enjoyed eating the strawberries they picked.

After Saturday’s beach party (fun fact: Kawakami-mura is the village that is the farthest from the ocean of any place in Japan; it’s like Japan’s Kansas!), Kim Sakamoto and daughter Katie Steidl took the chaperones to San Francisco, returning them early Sunday morning so they could pack for their 7:00 A.M. departure from the Buddhist Temple.

For the rest of the week, the exchange students from Kawakami and Watsonville attended local middle schools, the Monterey Bay Aquarium, Cassidy’s Pizza, the Pajaro Valley Ag History Museum and Seacliff Beach State Park.

Kawakami, Nagano-ken is famous for mountain hiking and golf in the summer time and snow skiing and ice skating in the wintertime. They are known for their vegetables (not unlike ours) and pine forest industry. The village boasts of a population of nearly 5,000. It has an elementary/middle school but no high school for the population is so small.

Go For Broke National Education Center launched, "Courage and Compassion: Our Shared Story of the Japanese American WWII Experience"

Traveling Exhibit, Supported by National Park Service Grant, to Showcase 10 U.S. Communities

(LOS ANGELES, CA - May 10, 2017) - Go For Broke National Education Center (GFBNEC) announced the launch of a national traveling exhibition, "Courage and Compassion: Our Shared Story of the Japanese American WWII Experience." Funded in part by a 2016 grant administered by the National Park Service (NPS), the exhibit will chronicle the story of the Japanese American experience during WWII, and feature local stories of bravery and extraordinary support of Japanese Americans from communities across the country.

From July 2017 through summer 2019, the exhibit will visit 10 U.S. communities where citizens extended a helping hand to Japanese Americans during and after the turbulent days of WWII. In the wake of the attack on Pearl Harbor in December 1941, many officials and community members viewed residents of Japanese ancestry, U.S. citizens and immigrants alike, with fear and mistrust. Japanese Americans were targets for harassment and discrimination, and families on the West Coast were forcibly removed to government-run incarceration camps.

"Courage and Compassion: Our Shared Story of the Japanese American WWII Experience" will reflect on the Japanese American experience from Pearl Harbor through the end of the incarceration and into the redress movement that resulted in the Civil Liberties Act of 1988. The interactive exhibit, designed by Quatrefoil Associates, will feature images and audio of firsthand accounts, including interviews of Japanese American soldiers from GFBNEC’s Hanashi Oral History Collection. Each community partner will research and curate unique local stories of courage and compassion within the exhibit.

"The exhibit honors everyday people who rose above the public hysteria of WWII to recognize Japanese Americans as friends, neighbors and citizens," Dr. Mitchell T. Maki, GFBNEC’s President and Chief Executive Officer, said. "These untold stories have real relevance today as we confront issues of loyalty, citizenship, due process and Constitutional rights. Thanks to a two-for-one matching grant from the NPS’ Japanese American Confinement Site Grant Program, we raised a total of $568,406 to educate the public on the nature of bravery during a dark chapter of our history."

"Courage and Compassion" debuted in Salem, Oregon on July 13, 2017, in partnership with the Willamette Heritage Center. Despite the hostile climate following the Pearl Harbor attack, some Willamette Valley locals and leaders spoke up in support of their Japanese American friends. From farmers who helped their incarcerated neighbors save their crops to a local Senator who braved political backlash to suggest that Japanese Americans might remain loyal to the U.S., these individual voices of conscience deserve to be remembered today.

Other community partners will include:

- Japanese Cultural Center of Hawai‘i, Honolulu, Kahului and Hilo, Hawaii;
- Kingsburg Historical Society, Kingsburg, Calif.;
- Oberlin College, Oberlin, Ohio;
- St. Mary’s School of Nursing Alumni Association, Rochester, Minn.;
- Twin Cities Japanese American Citizens League, Minneapolis, Minn.;
- Monterey Japanese American Citizens League, Monterey, Calif.;
- History Department, Bradley University, Peoria, Ill.;
- Chicago Japanese American Historical Society and Japanese American Service Committee, Chicago; and
- New Mexico Japanese American Citizens League, Albuquerque, New Mexico.

More information will be released on each venue and its unique stories as the tour progresses.

Dear Friends,

Starting this month, we will provide quarterly updates on the progress of the Nisei Soldier exhibits at the new National Museum of US Army. The National Veterans Network (NVN) is presently involved in working on the following four exhibit areas that will highlight the military service of the 100th Infantry Battalion, 442nd RCT and Military Intelligence Service:

Soldier Pylons: Nisei Soldiers will be part of the Soldier Pylons Gallery that features steel pylons, lined in formation, with a soldier’s image and information about his service.

Army and Society Gallery: The Army and Society Gallery’s Reflecting and Changing Timeline will include the 100th/442nd/MIS to show the societal changes and issues that the Army has responded to related to segregated units, gender equality and other issues that mirror our nation’s history.

Medal of Honor: The names of the 21 Japanese American Medal of Honor recipients will be engraved on a Wall of Honor located in the Medal of Honor Memorial Garden.

Congressional Gold Medal Nisei Soldier Exhibit: A 600 square foot exhibit space will be dedicated for a special exhibit to tell the story of the Congressional Gold Medal and the Nisei Soldiers.

For the upcoming year, our focus is research and content development as we work with organizations throughout the country to identify and develop the Nisei Soldier stories for the above exhibits. While we do this, we are faced with an urgent priority to collect objects/artifacts for the National Army Museum that has a very limited Nisei Soldier collection. There are two display cases that must be filled. If you have objects to donate for consideration, please see the article below for more information.

What compels us to do the work we do is in memory of our Nisei Soldiers. Although many are no longer with us, it is our obligation to ensure that their extraordinary service to country is preserved, perpetuated and shared for generations to come. We look forward to sharing our progress in the months to come.

Sincerely,
Christine Sato-Yamazaki
Executive Director

~ The Cement Ship ~
By Janice Tao

As the sun rises over Rio Del Mar,
Early birds drive up from near and far,
To this famous retreat where sea and sky meet,
To feel the sand beneath their feet.

A diversity of faces exchange dialogue,
As they jog through the cool and fast-lifting fog,
Revealing the waters of the incoming tide,
And the beachfront homes on the nearby hillside.

Our morning walk begins at a leisurely pace,
Admiring the sailboats, gliding with grace.
At the end of the pier lies a popular attraction,
Built for WWI ~ too late to see the action.

Towed from a shipyard ~ all for show,
Sculpted in Oakland in Nineteen Eighteen,
In the 20’s, it was the ‘hot spot’ of the party scene.

A swimming pool, bars, and a massive dance floor,
Exclusively for the rich ~ never mind the poor.
Dining and dancing as the champagne flowed,
From dusk to dawn, and ‘one for the road’.

But with the depression, ‘Palo Alto’ took a fall.
Hook, line and sinker ~ the elite lost it all.
The good life was gone; they were in the hot seat,
By suddenly becoming just another deadbeat.

A lone fisherman is now casting his line,
With dreams of a big catch on which to dine.
An hour passes without much success.
So he finally puts his pole and reel to rest.

A band of sea birds fly around and around,
And majestically swooping down to the ground.
They display their dexterity at a fancy clip,
By diving into the hull of the rusty ‘Cement Ship’.
(Today, the Cement Ship sits, broken into pieces by the 2017 winter storms)

“A SALUTE TO MIKE: A CHAMPION FOR ALL PEOPLE.”

San Jose JACL Presents “A Salute to Mike” Dinner

The Honorable Mike Honda, former United States Representative of the 15th and 17th Congressional Districts, will be feted at the San Jose JACL celebration dinner, “A Salute to Mike - A Champion for All People.” The benefit event is on Saturday, October 21, 6:00 pm at the Holiday Inn – San Jose - Silicon Valley, 1350 N 1st St, San Jose, CA 95112.

The evening will highlight his accomplishments in an informal ‘fireside chat’ format with Master of Ceremonies, Mike Inouye, NBC Bay Area Traffic Anchor. The program will maintain a lighthearted approach with a performance by local ukulele whiz, Rodney Takahashi. “Since Mike is known for enjoying karaoke, we may enjoy some surprise entertainment,” stated Co-chair Uyeda.

Attendees will have the opportunity to bid on a variety of silent auction items and funds raised will support JACL programs such as youth scholarships, civic engagement and social justice efforts, Issei Memorial Building maintenance and more.

Co-chair Oshidari points out that the San Jose chapter has a history of service in the community for more than 90 years. She emphasized, “This is our one opportunity to thank Mike in person and to share stories of his long history of service.”

The San Jose JACL invites you to this “A Salute to Mike” dinner on Saturday, October 21, 2017. Come celebrate Mike Honda’s leadership in championing civil liberties for all over his long career in public service. I welcome JACL members and friends to attend and am offering to form tables of 8, making the cost per person at $125.00 (General ticket price is $140.00). There is a Youth (25 and under) price of $70. Please contact me at SUyeda9356@aol.com if you wish to attend and provide name(s) and chapter. Thank you for your consideration.
